Voicesspondence Club Hears U. C. Professor

The importance of tape recorders in education was stressed yesterday at the first Eastern District "Tapevention" of the Voicesspondence Club held in Roselawn Park, New York Mills.

Harold Manner, assistant professor of zoology at Utica College, told an audience of more than 100 persons from nine states and Canada that tape recorders are being used extensively in clinics such as those devoted to cerebral palsy patients. He also emphasized the machine's importance to individuals who are self-conscious. By talking on tape and corresponding with others in this manner, the individual gains confidence in himself.

Members were present from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York, all in the Eastern District and guests from Colorado, Virginia and Montreal.

Master of ceremonies was Peter J. Imhoff, Whitesboro, R. D. I.

The Voicesspondence Club is composed of persons who correspond with one another by means of tape and wire recordings.

Present at yesterday's convention was Miss Janet Abbess, the only blind member in the Utica area and several other blind persons from out-of-town.

The convention presented Charles Owen, Noel Va., executive secretary of the non-profit organization, a large box of three-inch special reels to be donated to blind members of the club in voicessponding with one another and other members of the international organization.

Lawrence Pangburn, an electronics engineer at General Electric Co., spoke on stereophonic sound. This is similar to three dimension and gives depth and feeling to sound. He pointed out that ordinarily a person listens to music with one ear but stereophonic sound creates realism enabling a person to hear with both ears.

Greetings were extended the visitors from Owen and Carl Williams, Amsterdam, Northeast district deputy.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert W. Anthony, Chaplain for Utica State Hospital.

Committees for the convention included: Anthony Bolos, Toffey Bolos and Mrs. Evelyn Imhoff, refreshments; John Evans, Rodney Jones, transportation; George Mishlanic, displays and equipment; Miss Donna Jennings, Miss Barbara Imhoff and Miss Abbess.
