

FIXING UP LABORATORY

NEW COURSE METAL ANALYSIS AT UNIVERSITY

Will be Fanned in a Room in the Basement of Liberal Arts Building—Freshmen Violated College Tradition This Morning.

The two new courses in chemistry that were added to the curriculum of the university this year require a specially arranged laboratory, and work of some nature in remodeling and equipping a room in the hall of languages to be used for the requirements of the course.

The room is No. 20, in the basement of the Liberal Arts building. Tables, benches and the usual appointments of a chemical laboratory are being placed in position. The courses, as have previously been announced in The Herald, are in electro-metallurgy and electro-lytic analysis, comprehending the entire process of separating metals from their ores, together with that of smelting, refining and parting by the use of the electric current. The electricity will be obtained from the dynamo in the Steele hall of physics, but will simply be used to charge storage batteries in the new laboratory. The current for the work of the course will be taken from the storage batteries, for the reason that it is much more steady than that direct from the dynamo. The room is lighted by a window opening on a level with the ground on the north side of the building, but incandescent lights will also be used.

Both courses are intended for students in civil and electrical engineering, and will consequently not be crowded this year. It is probable, however, that the capacity of the laboratory will be enlarged, as the growth of the department makes it necessary. The entire class this year was large, and by another year larger quarters will doubtless be needed. The new appliances which will be used in the new courses have not yet been received, but will be procured soon and placed in position. A complete platinum set and balances will be among the appointments. It is intended to make the instruction comprehensive and thorough, and all arrangements will necessarily be the best that can be provided. Metal analysis, together with the various details of work in metals, will thus, under the increased facilities, form an important addition to the university's already comprehensive courses of study.

This morning, after chapel in the Hall of Languages, when the classes assembled at the foot of the stairs on the second floor to sing the accustomed songs, the freshmen, in a measure at least, have been woefully green.

There are a number of customs in Syracuse university which are carefully guarded by the student body and which the incoming class is supposed to know as soon as possible. Some little particulars of student etiquette and college traditions are naturally violated by the new comers each year, whereby the class is kept in keeping before the public eye, and that it is freshmen in reality are their names. All classes as well as all individuals have in their freshman year a quality of some indiscretion by which they have called down upon themselves the unpleasant epithet of freshmen. But probably the most serious breach from the point of view is that which has been committed this morning, when, after "singing" in the effort to sing its own class song, it had the bravery to start up a "demonstration" which, in view of its surroundings, which in view of its surroundings, but has always been reserved for upper classes in the code of college customs. It was simply a display of freshness that would no doubt have resulted in a collision with the classes had it not been for the Chancellor's repeated injunction, and warning concerning rushing in the halls of the building. The freshmen here also had abundant opportunity to hear one of the most interesting reports of student behavior, and the most of them they learn to keep in the background and the more comfortable it will be for them.

The Rev. W. H. Stephenson will speak at the chapel to-morrow morning. Dean Leonard also stated this morning that the State Superintendent of Public Instruction Skinner had announced his willingness to be present to address the students, and could be expected in the course of a few weeks.

The Modern Language association of the university will hold a meeting this afternoon in Dr. F. J. Holwarth's recitation room.

Miss Irene Burrows, assistant manager of the Co-operative association, has been unable to perform her duties on account of illness. Miss Olivia Pratt, 1001, has been supplying her place.

Miss Lina Novas of Rochester has been called home on account of the serious illness of her father.

The freshmen met yesterday and elected the following officers: President, D. O. Decker; vice president, Miss Beale; secretary, Miss Eva Smith; treasurer, H. W. Connell; toastmaster, J. J. Dalton; historian, Miss Bealy; track captain, Petrie; football manager, Weaver.

BUFFALO BOYS ARRESTED.
Run Away From Home to Take in the Dewey Celebration.

Two Buffalo boys are locked up at the Police station through the detective work of John Hazelton, superintendent of the Municipal House. At about 11 o'clock this morning two boys and a young man went into the Municipal Lodge house and, presenting tickets, asked for dinner. After waiting they were fed. Mr. Hazelton then took the boys to the Bureau of Labor and Charities. They had given fictitious names at the lodge house, but after being closely questioned they told him their real names. The boys, Henderson and Frank Miller, of Buffalo, Henderson is 15 years old and Miller is one year younger. The former is the son of Harry Henderson and the latter the son of Michael Miller. They left Buffalo last Saturday to go to the Dewey celebration in New York. They arrived here, and then, changing their names, started back home. Near Lyons they met George Leary of Utica, 22 years old. He got them to stop in Utica with him. They arrived here last night, and started at a morning paper office until today. After telling their story, Leary, the eldest one, was allowed to go. The boys were taken to the Police station. Just as they got

TURKISH RUGS.

There are a few good Turkish rugs, made by the hands of the Turkish weavers, which are now in the city, where he recaptured them. The Buffalo authorities were notified.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED.

Street Fair Will Certainly Open Next Monday.

"The little unpleasantness that has arisen among members of the Trades Assembly street fair committee will in no wise affect the fair," said Frederic Thomas, director general of the big exposition to an Evening Herald reporter yesterday. ... the arrangements for the fair were practically completed before the difference of opinion arose between the members of the general committee. All the features, as announced in The Herald, were secured quite a while ago. Nothing was left till the last moment. When Mayor McGuire formerly declared the fair open next Monday everything will be found in place and the bi-exposition will be running full blast.

The erection of the arch which is to grace the entrance to the grounds at the corner of South Salina and Temple streets was begun yesterday. The ornamental work was completed some time ago and it only remains now to get it in place. Miss Millie Dawson of Inglesford, Pa., a bright young woman, who is deeply interested in psychological phenomena, has offered herself as a subject to Doctor Coburn, the French hypnotist, who is to give an exhibition of his powers at the exposition grounds. She has been accepted and expects to be here Tuesday of next week. Director Thomas left for Buffalo on the Empire State to secure more theatrical attractions.

WANT SCHELL TO REMIGN.

Resolution in Methodist Conference Concerning Him.

A special to The Herald from Elmira to-day says:
At the session of the Central New York conference this morning, L. H. Pearce, B. I. Ives and Marvia P. Elskalee were appointed to formulate a resolution concerning the case of the Rev. F. S. Ritter, who was permitted to withdraw under charge. Leonard H. Pearce, presiding elder of Geneva district, read a most interesting report of his district, which was interrupted with frequent applause. John C. Nichols read his report as presiding elder of Syracuse district. The following was offered by D. M. Young:

Resolved, That in the judgment of this conference and the welfare of the Epworth league demands the resignation of the Rev. Edwin A. Schell.
On motion of R. D. Mungler, the resignation was referred to the committee on Epworth league.
James R. Day, chancellor of Syracuse university, was introduced and spoke enthusiastically of the increased attendance upon the university. Doctor Bakel of Philadelphia reported on the Freedmen's Aid society. A long list of superannuated preachers was called, and all were continued. The elections will take place at the session to-morrow morning.

ICEBOY STOLE FISH.

Fell Into a Trap Laid For Him—He Got Six Months.

William Imhoff of West Genesee street was arrested this morning charged with stealing a bag of fish from Edward Heiman's wagon in Schilly Brothers' barn, North Warren street. Last week Heiman had missed about $7 worth of fish from his wagon and laid a trap for the thief. To-day Imhoff walked into the trap and was caught. Of course, he could not very well deny the act, but said he knew nothing of last week's thefts. The complainant offered to produce the people to whom Imhoff had sold the fish. After some reflection Imhoff was taken from his cell and pleaded guilty. He said he had been drinking heavily, is a cigar-maker by trade, and declared he did not know what he was about. Justice sentenced him to the Penitentiary for six months, saying that the lapse of about that time would enable him to get his feet back on the earth again.

Brought Home For Burial.

MARSHALL, Sept. 25.—The remains of Mrs. A. M. Iyer of Syracuse were brought home for burial on Tuesday. Mrs. Iyer was a sister of Mrs. Dwight Baker and Equival Spinks of this place. Mrs. Iyer has been ill since she was 15 years old. She had been in the hospital for some time. She was buried at 11 o'clock this morning. The funeral was held at the home of Mrs. Iyer, 110 West Genesee street. She was 68 years old.

Syracuse Team Home.

The Syracuse university football team arrived home last night jubilant over the showing made against Cornell in spite of the failure of the men to come out for practice. The men are all in excellent shape, the only man to show any ill-effects of the game being Oves, whose injuries are unimportant.

Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the F. C. A. To-day. A meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the F. C. A. was held this morning in the rooms of the society in the Redwick, Andrews & Tracy building. Mrs. J. W. Truesdell, the president, presided. It was expected that the annual meeting and election of officers would take place, owing to the fact that the attendance was so small it was decided to put it over until a later date to be announced by the secretary. The time was devoted to a discussion of plans relative to a disunion convention of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty, which is to be held at Buffalo next Wednesday and Thursday. No delegates were actually appointed, but a number of suggestions were made. Among the number are Mrs. J. W. Truesdell, Mrs. George W. Driscoll, Mrs. A. J. Wells, Mrs. H. W. Bradley, Mrs. Mary E. Reel, Mrs. Philip S. Ryder and Mrs. C. E. Candee. From the society S. P. C. A. the representation will consist of John W. Truesdell, W. B. Peck, Dwight H. Bruce, Justin Seibert, O. R. D. McCARTHY & SONS. Our Display of Fall Millinery There's an exquisite blending of color—there's an unrivaled display of taste in this superb collection of perfect millinery that claims more than the usual share of attention. It's by far the finest showing in Central New York to-day—not only on account of the great number of hats displayed, but because it represents A.L.I. that is best and right for the present season. There are low priced hats and medium priced hats and high priced hats—each stamped with that indefinable grace and style so much sought for and admired by women of taste. We never repeat styles—we never duplicate. Our Millinery artists are too resourceful to make that necessary. When you select your hat here you're sure that you've the only one of its kind that will leave our store. We call your special attention to our beautiful line of Paris trimmed stitched felts. They're among the most popular hats of the season and are handled by this house only in Syracuse. DELORME'S PAINTINGS: "THE BLACKSMITH" and "FARMHOUSE INTERIOR." Admission Free. Take Elevator to Second Floor.

Elaborate Display of Millinery This Entire Week If you did not visit our showroom during opening days of last week, do so this week. The display will be equally as attractive, as the pattern hats sold have been replaced by others, which are recent and late productions of our work rooms, and which excel in beauty and attractiveness. Give us your orders as early in the week as convenient. The styles will be right, the workmanship of the best and the cost moderate.
